Per Curiam. After a thorough review of the record and of the parties' submission, we affirm the order of detention based on dangerousness and risk of flight, for the reasons stated by the magistrate judge and district judge below. We add only that the presumption in 18 U.S.C. § 3142(e) applied here, and we see virtually no evidence presented by appellant Jose Padilla-Galarza ("Padilla") which would rebut the presumption of dangerousness. The only evidence tending to show Padilla might not return to drug trafficking if released - the commendations he received as a police officer - are wholly unconvincing, given the government's proffer that he engaged in drug trafficking while still a member of the force.

Affirmed. 1st Cir. Loc. R. 27(c).
